Funding for Startups

What is Startup Funding? -

The capital that is provided to the leader of a business venture to initiate and develop a startup is known as 'Startup funding'. Startup funding can be obtained through various means, and there are four main types of startup funding: Bootstrapping, Crowd funding, Angel Investors, Venture Capital.

Government programs for startup funding include Startup India, Prime Minister's Mudra Yojana,

Small-Industries

Development Bank of India, Biotechnology Industry Research Assistance Council (BIRAC), and Atal Innovation Mission (AIM).

Essential points for securing startup funding include first creating a strong business plan, aligning the skills, experience, and drive of the startup team, and ensuring the Network with potential funders (Angel Investors or Venture Capitalists). These steps are crucial for successfully securing startup funding.
